Choose privacy

Choose privacy setting to determine who has access. For example, changing HIV to "General Health" means that everyone who has access to your general health record can see the diagnosis while changing it to "Sexual Health" means only those who have access to your sexual health record can see it.

General health

Most of your health record is general health and includes information that most health professionals will use to deliver care

Social care

Information about the care you receive from your local authority social care team, including disability funding. This is very useful in helping to manage home care services

 Mental health

Information about mental health conditions, for example diagnoses of anxiety, depression or schizophrenia. It is very useful for your GP to see such information alongside your mental health team

 Sexual health

Information about sexual health. This includes reproductive health and sexually transmitted infections
